Letters to the Editor

Torrance, Calif. Sept. 2, 1951

Editor, Torrance Press: A few weeks ago, you ran an article telling owners of dogs that the law requires them to be kept inside yards and off the streets, even if they have licenses.

Who is supposed to enforce that law? In our neighborhood east of Cabrillo and north of Sepulveda boulevard, they do not pay any attention to that law. Sunday, I saw a pack of six dogs running loose, spoiling lawns and flowers.

There is always one or two in the neighborhood, and the people who own them, don't seem to care. Why can't we have a local "dog catcher" who will see to it that dogs are kept tied up or in their yards? For the good of the community, something ought to be done, and I think you can do it. You seem to get other things done.

Regards and sincerely, H. G. G.
